

Optimizing Network Traffic in Challenging Times

How to assure 24/7 connectivity and high Quality of Experience (QoE) to your employees who are working from home?

During these challenging times, more and more organizations worldwide are re-shaping their working habits and asking their employees to work from home via remote connections with their data centers, utilizing VPNs that cause much higher bandwidth consumption and application congestion.

Network traffic and demand for remote access services are surging to new levels. Optimal traffic management has never been more critical, and we're here to help.

Allot's leading Traffic Intelligence and Assurance platform assures business continuity and priorities - it ensures that organization's critical business applications are always available and accessible to employees that are required to work remotely.

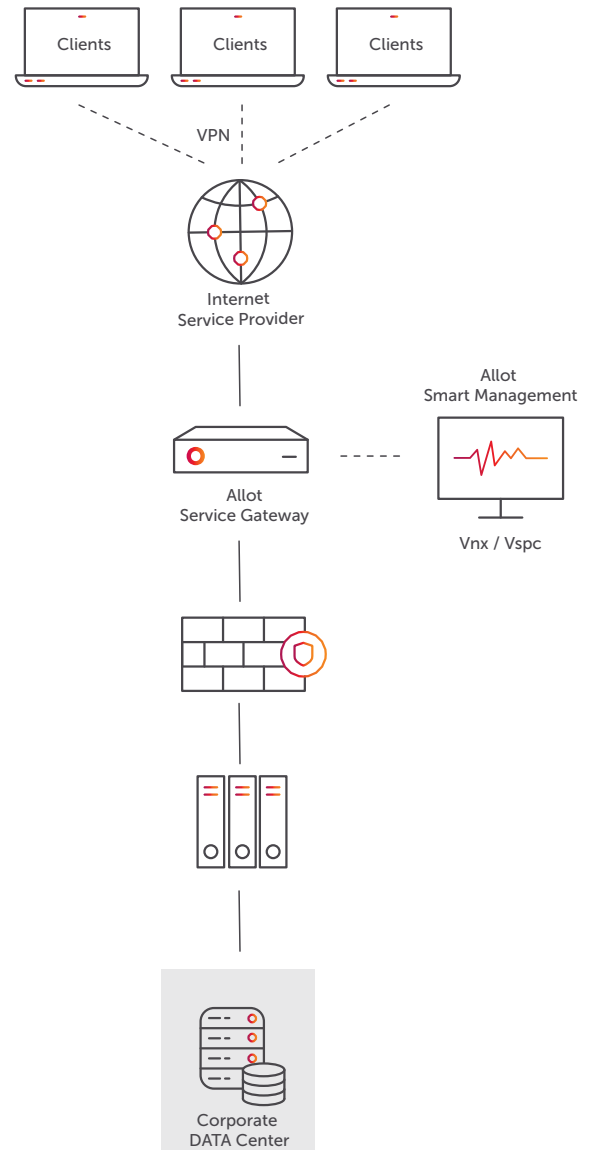

For the IT team, the Allot platform provides full visibility into the entire network, including distributed and remote sites and VPNs. It also aligns network applications and performance with business priorities, proactively troubleshooting network issues to avoid network downtime.

Traffic control and visibility are achieved thanks to Allot's critically acclaimed Dynamic Application Recognition Technology (DART), which can identify, in real time, more than 4,000 different applications, even in encrypted traffic.

Key Capabilities

- Centralized management (Agentless)
- Prioritizing the organization's critical applications through bandwidth allocation control
- Identification of the organization's unique applications through the creation of specific signatures
- Granular visibility into specific user behavior
- Real Time monitoring, dashboards, and reports that present measurements such as:
 - Frequency of disconnections and traffic issues
 - Surfing rates
 - Available rates of upload and download
 - Application usage classification and bandwidth consumption
 - Quality of Experience (QoE) for employees

Ensuring your network runs smoothly and serving your employees and customers are crucial.

As we all strive to meet these new challenges, know that Allot stands with you and is prepared to do its utmost to assist.

